Current text

Italic text: comment by project manager

Proposed changes

| QW-423.2 Metals used for welder qualification conforming to national or international standards or specifications may be considered as having the same P-Number as an assigned metal provided it meets the mechanical and chemical requirements of the assigned metal. The base metal specification and corresponding P-Number shall be recorded on the qualification record. | QW-423.2 A base metals used for welder qualification conforming to national or international standards or specifications may be considered as having the same P-Number as an assigned metal provided it meets the mechanical and chemical requirements of the assigned metal. The base metal specification and corresponding P-Number shall be recorded on the qualification record. |

Comment: it appears that the ‘it’ in the subordinate starting with ‘provided it...’ refers to the ‘Metals’ in the first sentence. If so, there is a mismatch between the singular personal pronoun ‘it’ and the plural noun ‘Metals’.